

- We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-low level, and poor market conditions are unlikely to impact the capacity of the manager to pay you. This classification is not guaranteed. It may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the fund. It's important to remember that even the lowest risk category does not mean risk free.
- The fund currently has a minimum redemption notice period of 6 months. The manager may also defer redemptions on a dealing day if it considers there is insufficient liquidity in the fund to meet redemptions and, in agreement with the trustee, may suspend the buying and selling of shares in the fund due to stressed market conditions. The fund is therefore not suitable for investors that might need to access their investment at short notice. A more detailed description of risk factors that apply to this product is set out in the latest scheme information, which is available on the manager's website or you can ask for a copy from client services.
- This product does not include any protection from future market performance, so you could lose some or all of your investment.
- If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.
- However, you may benefit from a consumer protection scheme (see the section 'What happens if the manager is unable to pay out?'). The indicator shown above does not consider this protection.

Investment performance information

- The fund mainly invests indirectly in commercial real estate assets in the UK. The value of individual properties rise and fall over time and may be influenced on various levels as follows:
- By macroeconomic factors, such as changes in economic growth rates, currency exchange rates, interest rates and inflation expectations. Other factors that may affect property funds include changes in taxation, employment rates, commodity prices (particularly oil and gas), and non-financial events such as wars and epidemics that are expected to affect the economy.
- By specific property level and local factors affecting the valuation and performance of individual properties which include supply and demand, location, ground and environmental conditions, construction standards, energy efficiency/sustainability credentials, financial strength of the tenants, income profile and the occupational lease terms.
- Political risk such as changes in government policy including regulatory and tax requirements.
- Flows of international capital play a significant role in the UK property market and can impact pricing, performance and liquidity.
- Portfolio composition has an impact on the fund's performance. The balance between property sectors and levels of diversification, including sub-sector, income and geographic risk will impact the risk profile of the fund.
- The income received by the fund depends to a large extent upon the occupancy levels of any property owned by the fund and the rents paid by tenants. Rental revenues and property values are affected by changes in the general economic climate and local conditions.
- The fund uses the MSCI/AREF UK Other Balanced Open-Ended Quarterly Property Fund Index as a comparator benchmark as this provides an appropriate representation of the return from UK commercial property. As it is actively managed, the fund's performance and volatility (the amount by which the fund's value goes up and down) will be different to the comparator benchmark.

What could affect my return positively?

- A favourable commercial property market, underpinned by strong economic growth, high business and consumer confidence and reliable, credit worthy tenants.
- Growing rental income and higher levels of occupancy will boost the fund's income.
- Low or reducing interest rates are likely to cause growth in commercial property values.

What could affect my return negatively?

- A downturn in the commercial property market and wider economy, leading to weakened business and consumer confidence resulting in less business investment, consumer spending and higher risk of tenant default.
- Falling rental income and increased vacancy rates of the properties that the fund indirectly holds.
- High or increasing interest rates could cause commercial property values to fall.
- If you cash in your investment in severely unfavourable market conditions, the value of your investment is likely to have reduced significantly and you may lose some or all of your investment.

What happens if the manager is unable to pay out?

The fund's assets are held for the benefit of investors by HSBC Bank plc (the custodian), who have been appointed by CBF Funds Trustee Limited (the trustee). They are held separately from the manager's assets. If the manager becomes insolvent (cannot afford to pay amounts it owes when they are due), the fund's assets will not be affected. However, the fund could suffer a loss if the custodian, or its delegates, become insolvent.

If the manager cannot meet its obligations (for example, because it has stopped trading), investors in the fund are not covered by any compensation scheme and could, in the worst case, lose their entire investment.

What are the costs?

Presentation of costs

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the fund itself, for three different holding periods. The figures assume you invest £10,000. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

How long should I hold it and can I take money out early?

Recommended holding period is at least five years.

The fund is intended for long-term investors who intend to leave their money invested for five years or longer. This reflects the investment objective of the fund, the strategies the manager is likely to use and the costs of dealing in the asset class. Whilst there is no minimum holding period requirement, requests by investors to cash in their shares are subject to a minimum notice period of 6 months.

The fund deals on the last business day of each month. If you want to cash in your shares, the transfer agent, FNZ TA Services Limited, will accept orders on any business day between 9am and 3pm which will be dealt on the first dealing day following expiry of the notice period.

Investors are reminded that property can be an illiquid asset class. All redemptions are currently subject to a minimum notice period of 6 months (this may be reduced to a minimum notice period of 90 days at the manager's discretion). The manager may also defer redemptions on a dealing day if it considers there is insufficient liquidity in the fund to meet redemptions and, in agreement with the trustee, may suspend the buying and selling of shares in the fund due to stressed market conditions. The fund is therefore not suitable for investors that might have a need for immediate liquidity in their investments.
